OUTLINES.

Ten thousand Confederate Veterans 10,000 Sons of Veterans, and 20,000 visitors are at Richmond attending the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans' organization, a feature of the day was the unveiling of an equestrian statue to General J. E. B. Stuart the famous Confederate cavalry leader, 150,000 people witnessing and participating in the parade and exercises; General Stephen D. Lee, Commander in Chief of the Veterans, is presiding ——Judge Pritchard, of the United States Circuit Court, at Asheville yesterday issued another injunction on petition of the Carolina and Northwestern Railway, restraining the North Carolina Corporation Commission from putting into operation the act of the North Carolina Legislature reducing passenger and freight rates ——John Matthis, a negro, was hanged at Clinton, N. C., yesterday for the murder of his stepfather——At the Jamestown Exposition yesterday Patrick Henry Day was celebrated, with the Hon. William J. Bryan as the principal speaker; Mr. Bryan's subject was "Taxation Without Representation" and he used the precept of Patrick Henry to show that we are now violating the principle for which our Revolutionary sires resisted Great Britain; he also touched on politics, speaking of government ownership of railroads, rate legislation, and other issues——Former President James M. Barr, of the Seaboard Air Line, has consented to aid the management of the Jamestown Exposition——If other Southern Railroads will join, the Seaboard Air Line will stop its trains 5 minutes at 2 P. M. June 3rd, the hour of unveiling the Jefferson Davis monument at Richmond——At Washington yesterday, Wallace C. Hood, of Baltimore broke the world's automobile record for 100 miles, making it in 2 hours, 12 minutes, 43 seconds—— The Blue and Gray fraternized at Norfolk yesterday in decorating the graves of the Federal dead——New York markets: Holiday, Federal Decoration Day.

"Undesirable citizens" must have enjoyed seeing President get doused with rain and mud when he took that horseback joint to Mount Vernon last Monday.

If Secretary Cortelyou doesn't carry on any more conversation at home than he does about those corporation subscriptions to the campaign fund, Mrs. Cortelyou surely must feel mighty lonesome.

The Lumber Trust proposes to show its books to Roosevelt's trust busting brigade. After all this fuss about busting trusts it would be a fool trust that would have books that would contain trust-busting evidence.

Senator Daniel, of Virginia, declares that the Democracy in 1908 must be neither too radical nor too conservative. Senator Daniel may be on the right track but we are afraid he won't meet many Democrats meandering around on that route.

"What will President Roosevelt do after his term expires?" asks a contemporary. Oh, there's plenty to do. He will have a fine opportunity to butt into the dispute about the genuineness of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence or tree some of the prevaricators who have been stretching the blanket about where Andy Jackson was born.

A New York paper says Thomas D. Jordan, former comptroller of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, "faces 20 charges" filed by District Attorney Jerome. Evidently Jerome can conjure up nearly as many "charges" as a married woman when she takes a notion to arraign her husband for various delinquencies, sundry shortcomings, numerous inadvertencies, etc., etc.

Dr. William J. Long, of Stanford, Conn., who writes on natpre and studies the life and habits of animals, is red-hot because President Roosevelt in a magazine interview, has discredited Long's yarns and accuses him of deliberate falsehood, deception and misrepresentation. In other words Long has been inducted into the Ananias Club, but if he wants to get even he should throw mud at and cast doubt on some of Mr. Roosevelt's yarns about "Hunting the Grizzly."

A startling and incredible story comes in a special dispatch from Roanoke, Va., that while the 9 day old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Leftwitch Brewer was being fondled it suddenly began to talk and "plainly called the names of its parents, grand parents and other relatives present, following each word with the name 'Heaven', the articulation being perfect." Consternation prevailed and people fled from the presence of the talking prodgy, believing that something terrible was about to take place. The baby repeated its words three times, and died on Tuesday. This wonderful thing is said to have occurred at Fox, Grayson county, Va.

WAS A HOT NUMBER

CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT

Civil Proceedings to be Instituted to Depose Pastor of Leading Negro Congregation—House Closed to Them.—Resolutions.

The recalcitrant members of the congregation of the First Baptist Church, colored, in which trouble has been brewing for some months, held a red hot regular monthly conference last night. Being denied admission to the house of worship, Fifth and Campbell streets, by the Rev. John Henry Rhoe, who still claims undisputed possession of the property, the conference retired to the Central Baptist Church and was in session there for some time, Rev. Fred D. Hale, pastor of the First Baptist Church, white, being present in an advisory capacity. Stinging resolutions directed at the "belligerent" pastor were adopted and steps were at once taken to put what the conference regards as the rightful owners in possession of the church, Hon. John D. Bellamy being employed as counsel for this purpose. The resolutions adopted were in part as follows:

Whereas, the charges against Rev. J. H. Rhoe of being the father of an illegitimate child, and of making an attempt to produce an abortion on the girl who swore her child to him, has so injured his reputation, as a minister in this community, that he canot exert the influence for good that is due from the pastor of a church, the attorney who won for him his suit in court saying: "Rhoe, I've cleared you before the law, but you know that you are as guilty as hell;" and

Whereas, during his entire ministerial career, he has been a breeder of church troubles, bringing confusion and strife into almost every church of which he has been pastor; and

Whereas, he has been guility of violating Baptist Distipline, and of unscripturally expelling members from the church, and voting others in conference meetings who are only watchcare members—not entitled to a vote—to such an extent as to cause the Kenansville Eastern Baptist Association to condemn him, and to drop his church from the Association roll, until it returns to Gospel order; and

Whereas, by unscriptural expulsion of some members, unscripturally placing others under discipline so as to deprive them of a vote in church conference, and voting watchcare members, he has fraudulently cut down the voting membership of the church so as to prevent the majority of the membership from having the rule in the church, as is customary in all Baptist churches; and

Whereas, the aggrieved members asked for a Mutual Council, according to Baptist church policy, and were refused; and

Whereas, an Ex-Parte Council was called, composed of the colored and white pastors, and colored and white deacons of Baptist churches in the city; who, after patient labor, and much antagonism from Rhoe, finally induced him and his faction, and the other members of the church who were not under discipline, to call a Mutual Council, composed exclusively of persons selected by Rhoe and his friends; and

Whereas, Rhoe, and the entire church, comprising both factions, by unanimous vote, pledged themselves to adopt the report of the Mutual Council, abide by its decisions, and be governed by its recommendations, provided nothing was recommended antagonistic to Baptist usage; and

Whereas, the Mutual Council was composed of Rev. Fred D. Hale, pastor of the First Baptist church, white, of this city; Rev. J. A. McKaughan, pastor of the Brooklyn Baptist church; Rev. G. A. Martin, pastor of the Southside Baptist church; Rev. J. A. Smith, resident of this city, and pastor of country Baptist churches; and Rev. C. B. Watters, colored Evangelist then holding a revival with Rhoe; Rev. W. M. Devane, colored, a member of Shiloh church, and Rhoe's special friend; Dr. A. M. Baldwin, a deacon of the First Baptist church, white, seven men unbiased, and capable of investigating the matter, and rendering a decision for the best interests of the church, and the cause of Christ in the community; and * * * (Here is recited subsequent transactions as given in yesterday's paper.)

Whereas, Rhoe was notified by us through Rev. Fred D. Hale, that the regular monthly conference meeting would be held on Thursday night of this week, the usual time for holding the monthly conference, and that he and his faction would be expected to attend, seeing that the house was opened and lighted, as they have the key to the building; and

Whereas, the answer was an insulting letter to Rev. Hale, with the verbal statement in the presence of the bearer that, "I wish the d—md white preacher would attend to his own business;" and whereas, the church has gone to the limit, along the line of Baptist polity, in its effort to rid itself of a despotic and dictatorial pastor, whose influence has ceased to be helpful in building up the cause of Christ, and is now compelled to resort to the strong arm of the civil law for relief, in removing Rhoe from the pastorate of this church after the 18th of June, therefore, resolved:

First, That a special committee, composed of brethren be, and are hereby appointed, in behalf of, and by authority of the church, to employ legal counsel, and to take such legal steps as may be necessary to enjoin Rev. Rhoe from attempting to serve as pastor of this church, after June the 18th, 1907, and from living in the church parsonage which he is now occupying.

Second, That Rev. Fred D. Hale, who served as chairman of the recent Mutual Council, be requested to serve on the above committee, and to assist us with his advice, and help in all matters pertaining to the interest of the church, until the trouble is finally settled, and another pastor has been installed.

The committee named in the resolution was appointed by the conference last night to consist of Dr. Hale, chairman; W. J. Hawkins, Richard Baskerville, T. C. Smith.

THEY DELIVER THE MAIL

Annual Meeting of East Carolina Rural Carriers' Association in This City Yesterday.—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

The meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers' Association in this city yesterday was well attended, the counties of Brunswick, Columbus, Duplin, New Hanover, and Pender being represented. The carriers had holiday on account of National Memorial Day and seemed to enjoy the brief respite from their daily routine, the fellowship feature of the gathering being quite as much enjoyed as the more formal exercises during the day. The visitors came in on the early morning trains and left in afternoon and evening yesterday in order to take out their routes today. They are enterprising, genial and intelligent people and Wilmington was glad to have the pleasure of entertaining them.

The session was called to order yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the Elks' Temple, on North Front street, by President R. F. Gore, of New Hanover. The secretary being absent Carrier Daniel J. Ward of Winnabow, Brunswick county, was elected secretary pro tem. The preliminaries of the meeting were at once gone through with much enthusiasm after which the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—R. F. Gore, of Wilmington.

Vice-President—W. T. Robbins, of Phoenix.

Secretary and Treasurer—D. J. Ward, Winnabow.

Chaplain—J. H. Fussell, Rose Hill.

Assistant Chaplain—J. C. Jerome, Rose Hill.

Mr. Daniel J .Ward was elected delegate to the State convention, which meets in Durham July 3rd and 4th, and W. T. Robbins, of Phoenix, was elected alternate.

An invitation was extended to the State convention to hold its next annual sitting here and delegates from the East Carolina Association will urge this invitation at the Durham meeting.

The sick benefit feature, proposed several meetings ago was further discussed by the carriers with considerable favor, but action was deferred until the next meeting.

The Association before adjourning extended a vote of thanks to the local press for courtesies and the Wilmington Lodge of Elks for the use of their splendid lodge room as a convention hall. The adjournment was until Labor Day on the first Monday in September.

Mrs. M. J. Hodges Dead.

Friends will regret to learn of the of Mrs. M. J. Hodges, which occurred at 8:25 last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. H. Thompson, 320 North Seventh street, after feeble health for some time. She was the widow of the late David Hodges and was in the 79th year of her age, enjoying the love and esteem of all in her acquaintance. There are surviving three sons, Messrs. L. W., of Florence, S. C.; C. B., of High Springs, Fla.; and W. W. Hodges, of this city; also three daughters, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. R. H. Pickett, of this city, and Mrs. J. B. Dempsey, of Portsmouth, Va. There are also surviving three sisters, Mrs. R. S. Thomas, of Maryland, and Mrs. S. V. Burkheimer, of Wilmington. They all have the sympathy of many friends in the loss they have sustained. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the residence and the interment will be in Oakdale.

DEATH OF WILMINGTON MAN.

Mr. William F. Burch Passed Away in Greenville Yesterday.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Greenville, N. C., May 30.—William F. Burch, aged 48, who has for many years, been foreman of the Reflector, died here this morning of pneumonia, after an illness of ten days. He was a native of Wilmington and came to Greenville in 1889. He leaves a wife one daughter, and one son. He was an excellent man and his death is moured by a host of friends.

IN SUPERIOR COURT

Judgment For Defendants in Thorpe & Applegate Controversy Rendered Yesterday

THE MEIER SUIT IS BEGUN

Jury Secured in About an Hour in Important Damage Suit Against Consolidated Company.—Others May be Continued.—Notes.

In the Superior Court yesterday the case of Charles Wessell against Thorpe & Applegate was concluded and after deliberation of twenty minutes the jury through Mr. L. W. Moore, foreman, returned a verdict for the defendants in the sum of $2,500 damages against which there is an offset of $1,000 and interest for balance due and admitted to be owing Captain Wessell by the defendants. The case was concluded about 4 o'clock and immediately was begun the work of the selection of a jury to try the important case of Frank Meier, administrator, against the C. R., L. & P. Company, which will probably require the balance of this week and a part of next. Quite contrary to the expectations of everyone, the jury of twelve men was agreed upon in a little more than an hour, only 41 talesmen having been called into the box.

All of the day's session until 4 o'clock was taken up with the completion of argument to the jury in the Thorpe & Applegate suit. The speeches during the day were by C. D. Weeks, Esq., ex-Judge E. K. Bryan and Hon. John D. Bellamy. Then followed the charge of His Honor and the case went to the twelve men, who have been sitting day by day since Monday morning. It took them but twenty minutes to dispose of their end of the suit and answered the issues as follows:

"Is the defendant indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $1,000 with interest at 6 per cent. from July 24th 1902 as alleged in the complaint? (Admitted by the defendants and answermitted by the defendants and answered "yes" by the court).

"Did the plaintiff contract and agree with the defendant to include in the sale the good will of his business and agree not to go into the business in the port of Wilmington again as alleged in the answer? Answer: "Yes."

"Has the plaintiff broken said contract as alleged in the answer? Answer: "Yes."

"What damage, if any, has the defendant sustained by reason of said breach?" Answer, "$2,500."

It is probable that the plaintiff, through his attorneys, Messrs. Weeks and John D. Bellamy, will take an appeal to the Supreme Court though no notice has yet been given. Messrs. Rountree & Carr represent the defendants.

The case of City of Wilimngton against Iredell Meares, Esq., was left open to be argued on a question of law later in the term.

The Meier case was taken up at once and the attorneys, Messrs. McClammy and John D. Bellamy & Son for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy and Davis & Davis, for the Consolidated Company, had little difficulty in getting together on the twelve men to pass upon the issues that will be submitted. Five of these Messrs. J. F. Mann, L. W. Moore, John M. Bass, E. Y. Davis and J. H. Johnson, were on the jury that had just completed the Thorpe & Applegate case. The other seven are Messrs. Sigmond Bear, Walter Taft, Preston Cumming, C. F. W. Rehder, W. S. Clayton, John N. Bennett and Captain Walter G. MacRae. The complaint alleges damages in the sum of $25,000 actual and $25,000 punitive; that Frank Meier has duly qualified as administrator of the estate of Joe Meier, deceased, his brother; that on August 19th 1903, near 12 o'clock at night, plaintiff's intestate, Joe Meier, by some means unknown to the plaintiff fell and lay upon the track of the defendant company at a point along its line near what is known as Cedar Grove Road Crossing and that the defendant operated one of its cars without having it equipped with a fender as required by law, negligently, recklessly, carelessly and wantonly ran upon and over the said Joe Meier, cutting off his legs, splitting his head open and otherwise mutilating his body and causing his death, whereupon plaintiff asks actual damages in the sum of $25,000. It is also alleged that a proper and sufficient head light, a proper and sufficient emergency brake was not provided as required by law and by reason of such improper and insufficient equipment that the defendant be awarded $25,000 punitive damages.

It is probable that one side or another in the case will employ a stenographer to transcribe the evidence in which event it is certain that much more rapid progress will be made than was characteristic of each day's proceedings of the case just ended.

It now seems certain that several important cases will not be reached at this term. One of these is that of Captain J. D. Bowen against the Seaboard Air Line and another is that of John M. Branch against the Atlantic Coast Line. It has been practically agreed to continue the latter and attorneys for the plaintiff in the Bowen suit are frank to confess their disappointment at the outlook for a trial of the case at this term.

HIS BODY IS RECOVERED

Remains of Young Frank Andrews, Drowned Six Weeks Ago by Being Swept Out to Sea, Washed Ashore Yesterday.

The body of young Lloyd Andrews, 23 years of age, an industrial insurance solicitor of this city, who with a companion, W. C. Linley, was swept out to sea in a boat in which they were gunning at Middle Sound more than six weeks ago, both men being drowned, was washed ashore near Mason's store at Middle Sound yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock. After being swept out to sea ,it appears that the body of the drowned young man in the high tides of the past week, was swept back through the inlet and was cast up on the shore near where the two young men pushed off their boat on the fateful Friday morning weeks ago. Although badly decomposed, Mr. Mason, at whose store the young men stopped for an oyster roast the day of the accident, thinks for a certainty the body is that of young Andrews and Undertaker W. E. Yopp, of this city, has been notified to go to the Sound this morning and prepare the remains for shipment to the former home of the deceased at Seven Springs, near Goldsboro, N. C., where his mother lives. His step father is Mr. G. G. Quinn, a general merchant of Seven Springs. Mr. Frank Andrews, of this city, is an uncle of the deceased and has been unrelenting in his efforts to find the body of his nephew but it was not until yesterday that the sea gave up its dead from the terrible drowning, which is well remembered by readers of this paper.

Young Mr. Andrews had lived in Wilmington but a little more than a year and was held in the highest esteem. Relatives and friends had given up ever finding the body as it was thought that sharks had already preyed upon the remains and a report some time ago was that a body supposed to be that of Andrews had been floating in the sound, near Hampstead, Pender county, where the body of young Linley was recovered some weeks ago.

EMBLEMS OF GOOD LUCK.

"Swastika" is Presenting Handsome Souvenirs to Its Customers.

The prfogressive shoe stor of Messrs. Hewlett & Price, "The Swastika," on Market street, have an important announcement to their friends and the public elsewhere in today's paper. With each purchase up to a certain amount as is explained in the advertisement they will present handsome "Swastika" watch fobs to the gentlemen and brooches of the same design to the lady purchasers. The design of the Swastika is older than history. It has been used by all the Aryan race from Scandinavia to Persia and India, as a lucky symbol. It is intended to represent the sun. The Swastika is also found on the monument of the ancient Mexicans and Peruvians, and on objects exhumed from prehistoric burying places in the United States. The souvenirs are decidedly attractive and handsome and will be a strong inducement to the public to purchase fine footwear of this enterprising firm.

PURCHASED THE SEA KING

Erroneous Report of Purchase by Captain Edgar D. Williams—Another.

Captain Edgar D. Williams has purchased the Baltimore tug Sea King and not the McCaulley as was erroneously reported in a Baltimore paper a few days ago. Captain J. S. Williams will send a crew shortly to Norfolk and the steamer will be brought to Wilmington next week. She is 124 gross, 84 net tons; 104 feet over all; 21 1-2 feet beam and draws 10 1-2 feet, coaled and watered, her bunker capacity being 90 tons and water supply being 12 days and nights. She is equipped with fore and aft compound engines with new Scotch double furnace and has all necessary wrecking apparatus. She has been on an extensive contract at Cape Charles and is said to be one of the best tugs o fits class hailing from Baltimore. Further description of the boat will be given when she arrives.

THE OFFICE ABOLISHED

Mr. Eugene Forshee Leaves Seaboard to Go With Coast Line.

Mr. V. C. Tompkins, of Raleigh, travelling freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line, was in the city yesterday and gave the official announcement that the office of soliciting freight agent of his line in this city had ben abolished. This work hereafter will devolve upon Mr. F. A. Fetter, the local agent, and upon Mr. Tompkins, who will make regular visits to Wilmington spending several days at a time. The office heretofore has been filled with great credit by Mr. Eugene Forshee who has removed to Jacksonville, Fla., and taken the position of chief clerk to the agent of the Atlantic Coast Line in that city.

STILL ON A BUDGET

Third Conference of The Aldermen and Board of Audit and Finance.

LAST NIGHT AT CITY HALL

Appropriations All Gone Over and Tentatively Agreed Upon Except As to Streets—Lengthy Discussion of Bond Issues.

The Baard of Aldermen and Board of Audit and Finance spent another 2 hours and a half last night at the City Hall in consideration of the budget of expenses for the ensuing fiscal year. All members of the Finance Board were present and a majority of the Aldermen. The entire budget was gone over and tentatively agreed upon carrying expenditures of $208,000 with no provision for permanent streets. It is estimated that the revenue will be something like $223,000 for the fiscal year so that there is yet $15,000 for expenditure in this Department, but there seems to be some disagreement as to the best manner of undertaking this work, the question being whether to make an appropriation to be expended as usual by the Streets and Wharves Committe or to turn the whole matter over to the proposed street commission. This provoked a long discussion last night and most of the time of the conference was thrown away in this respct. It was finally agreed to seek legal advice as to just the status of the affair and to await official action at the regular meeting of the respective Boards on Monday and Tuesday nights of the coming week.

The budget was taken up last night just where it was left off the evening before. This was with the Lighting Department. There are 120 arc lamps, an increase of three, at $65 per year, and 80 gas lamps at $28 each, a reduction of four dollars each. These were allowed.

Chairman Tiencken made an extensive report for the Market Committee, this showing thorough investigation of conditions and a business application of new ideas. Important recommendations are that the floor in Front Street market be relaid with concrete, counters fitted with iron supports, so that the place may be flushed out each day; repainting, whitewashing and repairing the building proper, the stores restaurants and stalls; the repairing of Fourth Street market house or the tearing down of the present structure and the building of a new one so that both the market and the fire station in close proximity there may be taken care of. This must be done or else an expenditure of $1,000 must be made for repairs, etc, including new tin roof and the building of sheds, etc., on the Campbell stret side. It is esmated that the new building can be constructed for $8,000, leaving a lot of land that may be sold in part payment. The Board looked with favor on this proposition and instructed Mr. Tiencken to see what could be done in this respect. The plans will include accommodations, both under one roof for both the market and the fire engine company at the bridge. Certain repairs and repainting to Fifth street market were also tentatively agreed upon.

Chairman Bolles presented the need of the public library, asking for an appropriation of $2,000. This was reduced by consent to $1,700 to include saalries, incidentals, books, magazines and periodicals.

Under head of miscellaneous $500 appropriation for elections was stricken out as there are no elections the coming year.

Under the head of Water Department Chairman Wood asked for $1,500 for investigation and inquiry into the purchase of the present water plant with the municipal ownership idea in view. This was readily granted and Mr. Wood stated after discussion at the last of the conference that his committee at the meeting of the Aldermen Monday night would ask authority to begin at once negotiations for the purchase of the plant. The Aldermen will also be asked to open negotiations for the sale of the bonds so that the work may be undertaken, if possible, before the street improvement system by bonds is under way. The commission of three, one to be named by the Mayor, and one each by the two Boards will be named when when the bond issue is floated.

The discussion of the bond issue for streets was long and at times heated, Mr. King making a plea for roadways in the outlying districts and Chairman O'Brien, of the Streets and Wharves Committee, protesting against a proposition to suspend all permanent work pending the floating of the bonds, which the opinion was expressed would require from six to twelve months. Mr. O'Brien also took exceptions to what he believed was a reflection upon the committee by the proposition to turn the matter at once into the hands of the Street Commission, which it was suggested be appointed right away. Finally, however, the storm blew over and the meeting took a recess in the best of spirit, it being agreed to leave the matter to the two Boards to be threshed out after legal advice is sought as to the exact status of affairs, some holding that permanent work can after the

SENATOR DANIEL'S VIEWS.

Recently the New York World made an inquiry of Senator Daniel, of Virginia concerning the outlook for the Presidential campaign next year and as to the availibility of Democratic candidates for the Presidntial nomination. Senator Daniel replied:

"Answering your telegraphic inquiry I would say that neither the South nor any section should, in my opinion, have a candidate for any place on the Presidential ticket on account of its locality. The country is one, and the Democracy as yet is one.

"The chief requisites of candidacy are ability, acceptability, and availability. That fact should determine the choice. Expediency should be the handmaid of principle, and cannot be overlooked in the present situation of the Democratic party. Ideas and principles should prevail and guide, and expediency should serve them.

"As to the gentlemen suggested in your inquiry as candidates: Culberson is an excellent man, of ability and good judgment. If the country wants him, the fact that he is from Texas, a great and progressive State, should not stand in the way; but neither should he be nominated because he is from the South or from Texas. The same may be said of Judge White, of Louisiana, though his isolation upon the Supreme bench has for the most part removed him from political contemplation.

"Take the right man from anywhere —New England, the West, the North, the South. I say these things with the more freedom because I have never been and am not a candidate. I have absolutely nothing to do with any actual or alleged plan to put my name forward, and know nothing of any such plan save what I hear from the press. I have felt it due to candor and upon solicitation, to express my opinion on certain issues. I did so, not only from settled conviction, but for the reason that the crisis demands plain speech, and if such radical issues are pressed farward they will surely lead to Democratic disoorganization, and it might be to dispersal.

"It is only by clear conception and well-balanced judgment that the Democratic party can put itself in shape for victory. If we become too radical, we will lose instantly those great factors of business which have all along supported the Democratic line. On the other hand, if we become too conservative we will chill and eliminate the intelligent and progressive men of all classes and sections who are in dead earnest for wholesome reforms with respect to trusts, transportation and tariff.

"Hence, if we do not balance ourselves, with the feet firm on fundamental principles, and move forward with the massive tread of men, resolute and sincere to maintain popular rights, with due regard to all interests and all sections, we will surely move to our ruin. Fire-eaters and speculative philosophers cannot lead us in unison.

"We must follow the example and counsel of Washington with respect to our conduct, and, like him, 'raise a standard to which the wise and prudent can repair.' He was the most successful man of his age, if not of all ages, and did more permanent good for his country than any of the more impetuous and more birilliant statesmen of his time. The country has constantly grown toward him, and if we can employ his wisdom and prudence of conduct in the application of those fixed principles of Jefferson which the country has many times accepted, we will realize our best hopes and deserve the public approbation."

Senator Daniel about voices the sentiments of all the Democrats in the South. The first thought among Southern Democrats is to adhere to the fundamental principles of the party and take as the candidate the man who is wedded to those principles, let him come from wherever he may. All other issues are safe when the bedrock principles of the Democratic party are adhered to, and the right men are elected to carry them out. The rank radicalism and paternalistic ideas that are not Democratic are what the South most dreads,and Southern Democrats and Statesmen are more concerned in getting back to fundamental principles than they are about where the candidate is to come from. No Southern statesman is letting the possibility of a nomination for the Presidency tickle his vanity. If it comes to a Southern man he won't be beside himself either.

SPEAKER CANNON AT GUILFORD COLLEGE.

Uncle Joe has come and gone. The Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, and Speaker of the lower house of Congress, has visited his birthplace in Guilford county, delivered the commencement address at Guilford College and has gone back North. The people of North Carolina greeted him cordially, and they found Uncle Joe as chipper as a lark and as spry as a cricket.

At Guilford College on Wednesday, Mr. Cannon delivered three speeches. The first was the commencement address in the college auditorium where he was heard by a large and excellent audience of representative North Carolinians. He next spoke at the laying of the cornerstone of the new college dormitory, and his third speech was to a promiscus crowd from a stand on the college campus. A correspondent writes of his visit to Guilford College:

"Mr. Cannon has made the commencement occasion a memorable one. The people of Guilford have given him the glad hand and made him welcome. Mr. Cannon, or Uncle Joe as he is familiarly and popularly known, is chipper, gay and debonair. He carries his three score and ten years lightly and seems to be in the pink of condition. Ruddy-faced, sharp-eyed, nimble and quick-wittedfi he is an interesting citizen. As he drove about Guilford county, yesterday, viewing the stamping grounds of his ancestors, he wore a cutaway coat, a black bow tie, a grey hat and a pleasant smile."

Mr. Cannon's commencement address was in a conversational tone and was unconventional. He made one of his characteristic speeches, drifting from one subject to another and saying what ever he pleased, and the newspaper accounts say his way of speaking and what he said were enjoyed. The audience was particularly pleased and heartily applauded when Uncle Joe came out and said he was glad he was born in North Carolina.

—The News Reporter has had considerable to say upon the advisability of erecting a cotton factory at Whiteville. We are now gratified to state that the matter has taken on a tangible shape. A list was started on last Saturday and by Monday more than one hundred people had agreed to take stock. No better move could be inaugurated than the establishment of manufacturing enterprises and the best known of these and most uniformly profitable is the cotton factory. If any one is inclined to doubt this, just let him glance over the market values of cotton mill stocks listed by Hugh MacRae & Co., of Wilmington, or other firms. This fact is further attested by the fact that in practically every community where one cotton mill was erected, others have followed.—Whiteville (N. C.) News Reporter.

The Peculiar Frigate Bird.

The frigate bird is a native of tropical seas and rarely comes to land except during the breeding season. It has the habit, unusual among sea birds, of nesting in trees, large companies of them building together in the tops of the tallest mangroves. Like the cormorant and the albatross, the frigate bird lays but one egg. It lives by fishing and also by robbing other fishers of what they have caught. In plumage the frigate bird is brownish black, with metallic green and purple reflections. The dilatable throat sac in the male is of bright scarlet, while the female, of a duller general hue, has a white patch on the breast. It is a beautiful sight to watch one or more floating overhead against the deep blue sky, the long forked tail alternately opening and shutting like a pair of scissors and the head, which is, of course, kept to windward, inclined from side to side, while the wings are to all appearance fixedly extended, though the breeze may be constantly varying in strength and direction.

An Egyptian Custom.

More than 1,000 years ago Herodotus observed a remarkable custom in Egypt. At a certain season of the year the Egyptians went into the desert, cut off branches from the wild palm and, bringing them back to their gardens, waved them over the flowers of the date palm. Why they performed this ceremony they did not know, but they knew that if they neglected it the date crop would be poor or wholly lost. Herodotus offers the quaint explanation that along with these branches there came from the desert certain flies possessed of a "vivifiv virtue," which somehow lent an exuberant fertility to the dates. But the true rationale to the incantation is now explained. Palm trees, like human beings, are male and female. The garden plants, the date bearers, were females, the desert plants were males, and the waving of the branches over the females meant the transference of the fertilizing pollen from the one to the other.

A NEED, JUST LIKE SLEEP.

Is the Instinct of Natural Death Born In Mankind?

The most convincing fact in proof of the existence in man of an instinct of natural death seems to me that reported by Toxarsky in relation to an old woman. In the lifetime of Toxarsky I begged an acquaintance of his to obtain for me the details of this most interesting case, of which I had found but an incomplete statement. Toxarsky unfortunately could add nothing to what he had published in his article. I believe, however, that I have found the source from which his instance had been taken.

In his book upon the physiology of taste, which had its day of celebrity, Brillat-Savarin relates the following: "I had a great-aunt, ninety-three years old, who was dying. Although for some time confined to her bed, she had retained all her faculties, and her condition was only betrayed by her loss of appetite and the weakening of her voice. She had always shown a fondness for me, and I was near her bed, affectionately ready to wait on her, which did not prevent my watching her with the philosophical eye I have ever had for the things and events surrounding me. 'Are you there, nephew?' she asked, in a scarcely audible voice. 'Yes, aunt; I am here at your service, and I think you would do well to take a little good old wine.' 'Give, mon ami. One can always swallow liquid.' I hastened. Raising her gently, I made her take half a glass of my best wine. She brightened for a moment and, looking at me with eyes which had once been very fine, 'Thank you,' she said, 'for this last favor. If ever you reach my age you will find that death becomes a need, just like sleep.'

"These were her last words. Half an hour later she had fallen asleep forever. We unmistakably have here an instance of the instinct of natural death. The instinct was shown at a relatively early age in a person who had retained all her intellectual faculties."—Professor Elie Metchnikoff in Harper's.

Advantages of Madness.

The truth is, I fear, that madness has a great advantage over sanity. Sanity is always careless. Madness is always careful. There is a great deal of falsehood in the notion that truth must necessarily prevail. There is this falsehood to start with—that if a man has got the truth he is generally happy. And if he is happy he is generally lazy. The incessant activity, the exaggerated intelligence, generally belong to those who are a little wrong and just a little right. The whole advantage of those who think that Bacon wrote Shakespeare, says Gilbert J. Chesterton, writing in the Illustrated London News, lies simply in the fact that they care whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare. The whole disadvantage of those who do not think it lies in the fact that they do not care about it. The sane man who is sane enough to see that Shakespeare wrote Shakespeare is the man who is sane enough not to worry whether he did or not.

My Best Friend.

Alexander Benton, who lives on Rural Route 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend. It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. The first bottle ended the terrible cough, and this accomplished, the other symptoms left one by one, until she was perfectly well. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equaled it. Fully guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Caustic Rejoinder.

A physician who had for fifteen years been one of the doctors of the Actors' fund and who attended hundreds of actors with no compensation whatever, wrote to a prominent manager and asked for some theater tickets. His request was refused, the manager asking what the doctor had ever done that he should be entitled to receive theater tickets gratis. The physician immediately replied. His letter contained a brief recital of his services to theatrical people. In conclusion he said: "Despite my services, as named above, I should not have thought of asking you for tickets had it not been that upon the occasion of the death of Mr. Blank you assured me that if you could ever serve me in any way whatever you would consider it a favor if I would call upon you. However, I bear you no ill will on account of your present action, I was very glad to attend Mr. Blank when he died in your box office, and I should be happy to do as much for you at any time."

Tom Corwin's Education.

The father of Tom Corwin, the famous Kentucky statesman, orator and wit, felt that he was too poor to make a scholar of more than one child of his large family, and so the elder brother, Matthias, was kept at school and Thomas placed at hard work on the farm. The breaking of a leg proved a happy incident in the life of the boy, as the enforced confinement gave him time for devotion to his beloved books, and he committed a Latin grammar to memory. Upon his recovery he again importuned his father to send him to school and, meeting a refusal, deliberately broke his leg the second time that he might have leisure to study. His heroic determination to learn resulted in his being placed in the same institution attended by his brother, where his natural ability and great industry gathered a thorough knowledge of the best English literature and a fair acquaintance with the Latin classics.—Ohio Magazine.

Why Horses Shy.

The horse shied at a piece of white paper, and the rider tumbled off into the mud.

"It is well for the world," said an automobilist, smiling, "that it is ceasing to use the horse for a servant. The horse is a half blind giant, with the mind of a baby. No wonder, then, that when we trust out lives in his keeping he is apt to go back on us.

"His main trouble is his eyes. So poor is the horse's sight that he mistakes a bank of snow for a fierce white beast. A mud puddle at his feet is a yawning chasm. A shadow flung across his path is a black terror seeking his life; hence the weakminded, nearsighted, powerful horse goes through life beside himself with fear. He is no more to be trusted than a maniac, and, like a maniac, he sees a monster awaiting him at every corner. Yet we get on his back, fools that we are."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

False Messiahs.

The defense of different persons claiming to be the Messiah has cost the Jews a great expense, both in treasure and human life. One of these, Coziba, who lived in the second century of our era, put himself at the head of the Jewish nation as their Messiah, and many of that people adhered to and defended him. The Romans made war upon Coziba and his followers, and, according to admissions made by eminent Jewish authority, they lost somewhere between 500,000 and 600,000 men in his defense. The last of these impostors was Mordecai, a German, who first claimed to be of divine origin in the year 1682. When the authorities threatened to punish him as an impostor he fled, and his end is not known.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Wilmington Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, week or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so i tis with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Wilmington people testify to permanent cures.

R. A. Biddle, clerk at 19 Market street, residing at 606 Castle street, Wilmington, N. C., says "I used Doan's Kidney Pills myself for kidney trouble and my wife who suffered from backache also used them. I never knew anything to act so quickly. I have suffered for quite a long time with my back and kidneys. The kidney secretions were very dark and full of sediment. My wife also complained of her back, and when we read of Doan's Kidney Pills in our newspapers I went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. We used them with best of results. In my case the kidney secretions cleared up and the pains left my back. We have neither of us complained since taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and it is with pleasure that I recommend them at every opportunity."

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST. READ THEM CAREFULLY:

A.—All subscriptions must be received at the regular published rate. No discounts or commussions whatever will be allowed.

B.—No subscriptions will be received for a less time than three months.

C—Every subscription sent in under this offer must be a bone-fide new subscription to The Morning Star. No others will be received, and a careful investigation will be made to determine whether or not the name sent in is a new subscriber.

D.—Cash must accompany all orders.

E.—All that is necessary to win any of the trips enumerated above is that the subscriptions sent in shall aggregate the amounts named. Orders need not be for yearly subscriptions only. In securing subscriptions the following ratio may be observed: Two six-months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription; four three months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription.

F—The names of new subscribers, and the amounts collected, should be sent in as soon as obtained. Receipts will be forwarded to the subscribers at once, and the amount placed to the credit of the contestant.

G.—This exceptional offer will remain open to all until September 1, 1907. If you get to work at once there is time a plenty for you to secure one of the best trips. You may visit the Exposition any time you please.

"Pender Chronicle: "A yachting party consisting of Messrs. William and Ross McNeal, William Perry, E. L. Larkins, J. D. Durham and H. Overstreet, left Smith's Bridge Saturday evening, for Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach, returning Monday morning."

—Deeds filed for record yesterday: D. D. Cameron and wife to Henry L. Horne, property on east side of Fifth 92 feet south of Dawson street, 46 1-2 by 264 feet in size. George H. Howell, commissioner, to F. A. Bissinger, for $275, property on Second, 99 feet south of Marstellar street, 33x165 feet in size.

—In the police court yesterday E. G. Beardsley, charged with being drunk and abusing Officer M. P. Newton, who arrested him, was fined $25 and costs. Walter Way, charged with intoxication, was fined $5 and costs and Fred Simmons, a negro charged with throwing stones in the street, was also taxed with $5 and costs.

—The investigation of charges of dereliction of duty on the part of Policeman W. M. Harriss, the officer on the beat when the plate glass window of Sloan & Sweeney was smashed last Sunday morning on Market street, was continued by the Police Committee yesterday until next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Strawberry shipments through South Rocky Mount Wednesday were 21 cars by refrigerator and 143 crates by Southern Express. The distribution was: Pittsburg, seven cars; Philadelphia and Boston, three cars each; Scranton and Albany, two each; Newark, Providence, Buffalo and Troy, one each. New York quoted 9 to 11; Philadelphia, 8 to 12 and Boston, 8 to 12 cents per quart.

—A threatened suit by former Conductor L. R. McCall, who was injured last Summer on Bradley's Creek trestle by being struck in the back with a detached trolley wheel, was compromised Wednesday by the Consolidated Company by payment of $1,000 in addition to surgical attention and other consideration shown while Conductor McCall was laid up and was recuperating. Mr. McCall was represented by George Rountree, Esq.

—The engine at Fire Station No. 1, Fourth and Princess streets,which was recently overhauled by Mr. J. A. Lockfaw, has been most handsomely repainted and refinished by workmen from the carriage shops of Mr. J. O. Brown. The solid color work and the striping of gold is a credit to the establishment of Mr. Brown and old No. 1 looks as pretty as she did when she was first installed in the department.

—Upwards of 200 children and young people from the First Presbyterian Sunday School under the chaperonage of Mr. W. M. Cumming, the superintendent, went to Wrightsville Sound and Beach yesterday morning on a picnic. Two cars of the Consolidated Company were required to handle the party, which spent the forenoon on the Sound, enjoying lunch on the lawn of the Atlantic View Hotel and going over to Lumina in the early afternoon. The party returned to the city late yesterday evening after a most delightful outing.

WILL HONOR DAVIS' MEMORY.

Seaboard Will Stop Trains Five Minutes at 2 P. M., June 3rd.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—At the office of President Garrett, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, today ,it was stated that the Seaboard has officially announced its willingness to comply with the request of General Stephen D. Lee, commanding hte Confederate Veterans of the South, that all trains on Southern roads be stopped for five minutes at 2 p. m ,June 3rd, the birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis, and the hour of the unveiling of the Davis monument at Richmond, providing other roads will join in and comply with General Lee's request.

Lee Holmes, the negro who shot and killed Dr. Sands at Darien Junction, Ga., was tried and convicted yesterday of murder and sentenced to be hanged there on July 19.

It was agreed to employ a janitor to do the menial work about the City Hall, the two present employees of combination police and janitor work to be transferred wholly into the police department.

An extra health officer to look after the interest of the city in the contract for removing trash from the streets was not allowed.

It was decided not to employ an engineer for all his time as suggested, it being shown that when the permanent street work is undertaken by the commission the law empowers that body to employ its own engineer. Fees for engineering service of the city will be paid as heretofore, these having amounted to only $690 during the past fiscal year.

The appropriation as tentatively agreed upon carries with it the increases for the police, firemen, street hands, etc., and also for the consolidated fire house in place of the chemical house as it now stands. The pay of foremen in the Fire Department was $65 and not $60 as erroneously reported yesterday.

The conference adjourned at 10:30 o'clock for official action on the budget by the two boards later. They pretty well understand each other from the three conferences held and it is expected that little further trouble will be had in completing the appropriations for the several departments.

South-bound passenger train No. 33 on the Seaboard Air Line at 8.50 o'clcok last night was wrecked on the trestle over the Savanah river twelve miles north of that city. Engineer Gibson and the fireman were dangerously injured. No passengers were injured. A wrecking crew left Savannah for the scene.

SHORTHAND.

The Quality That Appears to Be Lacking In All Systems.

The fatality of all systems of shorthand is that what seems easy to the eye of filial piety may be terribly difficult to the cold gaze of a stranger. Of the innumerable systems of shorthand that were the vogue a century ago how many survive today? asks a London writer. Fame and fortune still await the man or woman who can invent a system that will appeal to the reader as effectively as to the original writer. Perhaps if we were to rediscover the lost shorthand writing of the ancient Romans we might find ourselves on the road toward a solution of the problem.

For the Romans were on affectionate terms with shorthand. Did not Suetonius, speaking of Caligula, express surprise that an emperor of so many promising parts should nevertheless be an ignoramus in shorthand, and did not Titus Vespasianus pride himself on his facility in the use of stenography both for business and amusement? So fond was he of the sport that he delighted to gather his amanuenses around him in order that they should tilt against each other in the stenographic field. It may be that but for the rediscovery of the art in England toward the end of the sixteenth century the curious Pepys would not have been moved to write his diary.

VENEZUELA.

Beauty of the Country and the Impression It Leaves.

The beauty of the country is the first and the most lasting impression. To catch glimpses at every turn in the valleys of cloudy peaks, or when on the mountain side to see through the limpid air valley after valley between the protecting hills, to breathe this pure air, to know that summer is almost perpetual—he is only half a man who does not for a moment forget the needs of civilization in the intoxication of primitive nature. The loveliness of Venezuela is something different from that of the Andean ranges farther west and south. It is more tropical, and the mountains do not rise to the height in which the senses are stilled by grandeur, nor is there found so near the equator that ruggedness or gloom of solemnity which is one feature of the Rockies. It is a beauty of more human type, which can be enjoyed most when we know that man has his abode there. The Andes, the Alps or the Rockies are bold and austere. They need no life. Life is not meant for them. But such contrasts and changes as are constantly presented to the eye in these softened landscapes are more exquisite when man is pottering about on the surface trying to imagine that he is of some real importance on the earth.—Reader Magazine.

The Crafty Brother.

A man had two sons. The elder was virtuous and dutiful, the younger wicked and crafty. When the father was about to die, he called them before him and said: "I have only two things of value—my herd of camels and my blessing. How shall I allot them?"

"Give to me," said the younger son, "thy blessing, for it may reform me. The camels I should be sure to sell and squander the money."

The elder, disguising his joy, said that he would try to be content with the camels and a pious mind. It was so arranged, and the man died. Then the wicked younger son went before the cadi and said: "Behold, my brother has defrauded me of my lawful heritage. He is so bad that our father, as is well known, denied him his blessing. Is it likely that he gave him the camels?"

So the elder brother was compelled to give up the herd and was soundly bastinadoed for his rapacity.

SOUTH'S VETERANS TAKE RICHMOND

Greatest Reunion in History of Confederate Survivors of Civil War.

TEN THOUSAND ATTENDING

Confederate Capitol Swarming with 40,000 Visitors, Including Its Former Defenders.—Equestrian Statue of Gen. Stuart.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Richmond, Va., May 30.—With the largest number of Confederate veterans gathered together since the war, in the vast Horse Show Building, in which the convention was held, beautiful with flags and bunting, and portraits of the peerless leaders of the Confederacy, the 17th annual reunion of the United Confederate veterans began here this morning under the most enthusiastic conditions.

Since early morning, a steady stream of veterans had been pouring into the building and when at 10 o'clock, General Stith Bolling, acting temporarily for General Lee, called the convention to order ,almost every chair in the building was occupied, and the benches around the sides of the hall, were filled with the surviving remnants of the glorious army of the Confederacy.

General Bolling introduced the Rev. J. William Jones, chaplain general of the grand camp, who presented Rev. Dr. J. J .Gravatt, of this city, and the latter offered the opening prayer.

Governor Swanson, of Virginia, then took the stand and amid the wildest enthusiasm on the part of the convention, welcomed the veterans in eloquent words to the Old Dominion.

Mayor McCarthy, of Richmond, was then introduced and welcomed the visitors to the city which forty-five years ago, they defended against the armies of Burnsides, Pope, McClellan Sheridan and Grant.

B. B. Morgan, of the local camp of Sons of Veterans, was then introduced, and added the welcome of those he represents to the welcomes, which had already been expressed.

General Bolling then presented to the convention the Commander-in-Chief of the Confederate Veterans, General Stephen D. Lee, and the old soldiers rose to their feet and received him with utmost enthusiasm.

General Lee assumed the gavel of the presiding officer and proceeded to make his annual address. He said among other things that the coming of a Confederate veteran to Richmond was like the return of a long-absent child to its mother—that Richmond is to the Confederate what Calais was to that French Prince, who compelled to live in England, said "When I die, you will find engraved on my heart the one word 'Callais.'"

At about noon, the first session of the re-union adjourned for the veterans to take part in the unveiling of the equestrian statue of General J. E. B. Stuart, erected by the Cavalry Association Army of Northern Virginia The parade incident to this ceremony, started at 2 p. m., and was a brilliant pageant. The weather was beautiful, and the display was witnessed by a vast concourse, estimated to number 75,000 to 80,000. The people were packed along the whole course of the parade, a distance of about two miles, on the sidewalks on the porches and in the windows of the buildings on both sides of the street. The whole number of people in line on the sidewalks ,is estimated at from 125,000 to 150,000.

There are about 10,000 actual veterans in the city. Of Sons of Veterans and other auxiliary bodies, military and s oon, there are about 20,000, and in addition to those, there are about 20,000 visitors drawn hither by the reunion ceremonies.

At the head of the unveiling parade, rode Governor Swanson and his staff. Then in a carriage, came the Sponsor-in-Chief of the United Confederate Veterans, with her maids of honor, and next in line was the 70th Virginia Regiment. Next came the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, resplendent in its new dress uniform, and after the Blues, the carriages containing the sposor-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans and her maids of honor followed by the marching Sons led by Commander-in-Chief Thomas S. Owen, of Alabama, and his staff.

Then came the veterans in divisions indicating the States from which they hail, preceeded by Genral S. D. Lee with his chief marshall and their staffs.

The first body of veterans was the Cavalry Association of Virginia and next came the Forest Cavalry Corps under the leadership of General H. A. Tyler, of Kentucky.

After Forrest's men in the line was the North Carolina brigade, 3,500 strong and after North Carolina, the South Carolina division numbering 2,000 men.

The West Virginia division was one of the most complete in line, and following this body came the Virginians, who made their usual fine showing.

A striking feature of the parade was a body of armed and uniformed veterans from Memphis, Tenn., who drilled according to old-time tactics and were most interesting to all beholders. Another striking feature was a turn-out of the famous Richmond Howitzers in full dress uniform and with the u-to-date equipment recently provided for them by the Federal government.

The closing feature of the parade was a procession of carriages in which fore seated Daughters of the Confederacy, members of the Ladies' Memorial Association and noted warriors, who though enfeebled by years, were unwilling to forego active participation in the demonstration.

There was a number of bands and drum and fife corps in the line of the parade and these enlivened the occasion with "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," and other old-time Southern airs.

The States represented in the parade other than those already mentioned were Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Louisiana, Texas, Ohio, Montana, Oregon, Indian Territory, and Oklahoma, and the District of Columbia.

At the monument the ceremonies were opened with prayer by the Rev. W. Q. Hullihen, of Staunton, who was a member of General Stuart's staff. Major A. R. Venerable, another of Stuart's staff officers, then introduced General (Judge) Theodore S. Garnett, of Norfolk, the orator of the day, who was received with tumultuous applause, and paid tribute in eloquent terms to the dash and bravery and nobility of Stuart.

He was followed by Mayor McCarthy, who in a brief, but spirited and interesting address, accepted the statue on behalf of the city.

The cord holding the veil upon the statue was then drawn by little Miss Virginia Stuart Waller, grand-daughter of the famous calvery leader, and the beautiful statue, was revealed to the multitude packed about it. A babel of sound went up, there was enthusiastic cheering, clapping of hands and wavering of handkerchiefs and flags, the "rebel yell" rose shrill and clear above all, and the major-generals salute was fired by the artillery.

ROOSEVELT IN INDIANAPOLIS

President Spoke at Unveiling of Lawton Monument.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Indianapolis, May 30—President today delivered the principal address here at the unveiling of a monument to General Henry W. Lawton. He discussed railway problems and incidentally paid a warm tribute to Oliver Morton, the war governor of Indiana.

The President arrived at 10.48 from Canton, Ohio, accompanied by Vice-President Fairbanks and was driven to the Fairbanks home, where luncheon was served, after which he was escorted to the courthouse square by United States Troops, thirteen companies of the G. A .R., and other or-two miles was lined with cheering crowds.

The programme of exercises included an invocation by Rev. D. R. Lucas, an address by Governor J. F. Hanley, music by the Seventh Regiment band, reading of a poem dedicated to General Lawton by James Whitcomb Riley, the introduction of the President by Governor Hanley, and President Roosevelts address.

Following the ceremonies Vice President Fairbanks addressed the crowd briefly . He said:

"Fellow Citizens, I wish to express to the President of the United States that which I know is in all yours hearts—thanks for the admirable address he has just delivered. He came into the State this morning greeted by thousands. As he leaves here tonight after this crowning event of an eventful day, he will carry with him the assurance that the great citizenship of Indiana is loyal to the memory of those whose made illustrious the years from 1861 to 1865 and that the people of Indiana are for cdeanliness in civil life and honesty in public service."

At the conclusion of the address the driven to Crown Hill cemetary where the President placed a wreath on the grave of former President Benjamin Harrison. He brought the token of galanx leaves and lilies of the valley from Washington. The train bearing the President left for Fort Wayne, where he will pass the night in his car.

LOUISIANA TEXAS FLOODS.

People Driven from Homes by Rain and Gulf Waters.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Lake Charles, La., May 30.—Flood refugees are coming into Lake Charles from Cameron Parish, a county of nearly 1,500 square miles, much of which is under water tonight from record breaking rains, rising rivers and a wind which has blown the gulf of Mexico waters in shore. Nine families on a special train came from Sulphur Mine district, wherea bout $10,000 damage has been done. No deaths have been reported.

Houston, Texas, May 30.—A series of storms, accompanied by Cloud bursts, swept over Houston and vicinity last night and continued until today. The country for miles is covered with water. Railroad traffic is almost suspended and street railways are greatly hampered. Many houses have been wrecked or washed away by Buffalo Bayou, which has passed all high water records, and is still rising. Much damage has been done in this vicinity.

Beaumont, Texas, May 30.—The heaviest rain in the history of this city has been falling since last night. The city is flooded with water and in some sections is from one to four feet deep. Telephone service has been crippled and street cars are suspended on some lines. The Southern Pacific tracks are washed out thirty miles west of here, temporarily stopping traffic on the main line. A windstorm struck the business center of the city, seriously damaging several large buildings.

WARM WIRELETS.

At Elyria, Ohio, last night crowded with holiday passengers, a Cleveland & Southwestern trolley car, running from Wallington to Cleveland, was struck by a car coming up from behind at the corner of Sixth street and Middle avenue, resulting in at least two deaths and eleven persons injured. Two of those injured it is thought will die.

At Tonopah, Nev., last night after a hard fight, the seconds of Marvin Hart threw up the sponge in the 21st round and Mike Schreck was declared the winner. Hart broke his right wrist in his fight with Gardner and three days ago it is said he broke it again while training. The wrist went back on him after the sixth round last night, but he fought like a demon until his seconds threw up the sponge.

Turning the Scale.

[Original.]

Who is there who cannot look back to some trifling incident that changed the whole course of his life? If A had not happened to meet B on a street corner on a certain day twenty years ago, B would not now be A's son-in-law. If C had not seen a certain advertisement for a partner with a thousand dollars, he would not now be the multimillionaire owner of a gold producing patent. If D had been a fine penman, he would now doubtless have been a bookkeeper instead of managing partner of his firm. So it goes. We think we know what shapes our end, but we don't. In not one of the cases referred to would the person affected for a moment consider the cause given the correct one.

One day Jim Beverly, a countryman who had been long hunting for a job in the city, becoming discouraged, made up his mind to go home before his funds were completely exhausted. Jim had come to town with a trunk that had to be held together by a rope. He had got rid of the country clothes in it and thought he would like to take back one of those suit cases which he saw so much used. Going to a shop, he bought a secondhand one at a reduced price. Besides being secondhand, it had the letters "V. T." painted on the end. He was told that a redheaded man wearing glasses and a striped waistcoat had turned it in as part payment for a new one. That was a lie. The man bought a new one and left his old one to be put in the cellar. Beverly got it cheap, took it to his room, put his belongings in it and went to the train. A man took a seat beside him who kept glancing out of the corner of his eye at him.

"How are y', Torbert?" he said presently in a low voice.

"How did you know my name was Torbert?" asked Jim, suspecting a confidence game.

"By several things—initials on suit case, red head."

"Well, suppose I am Torbert. What then?"

"Got the stuff in the case?"

"Suppose I have."

"I'll be on hand at N. to take it off your hands. Three days. Better not hurry. Say Friday, 11 at night."

"Where?"

"Why, at the Northfield House, you know, as arranged."

The man got up and left the car at the first stop. While the train was rolling through the city limits a couple of men came down the aisle, looking here and there at passengers. Beverly's suit case was on end before him. One of the men looked at the letters on the suit case, then at him suspiciously.

"I'll trouble you to open that case," said one of the men.

Beverly demurred at first, then opened the case. There was nothing in it but the remnants of a few underclothes. The man looked disappointed. "You've got a red head," he said, "and the letters on your case are V. T., but you're not the man."

"Of course he isn't the man," said his companion. "I know the man we want. That's not him."

Now, it was on the tip of Jim's tongue to tell the whole story so far as it has been told here, but it may be judged from his dialogue with the man who had sat beside him that he was better adapted to receive than to give information, so he held his peace. The men went on, and Jim got out when the train reached his station.

Jim took into his confidence a couple of detectives, and they all went to N. three days later. Jim entered the Northfield House half an hour before 11 o'clock, but he was not Jim Beverly; he was a man with white hair and beard. He sat down in one of the office chairs. It was not long before he saw the man who had sat beside him on the train come in. He, too, sat down and, taking up a newspaper, read it till a man with a red head, glasses and a striped waistcoat entered, carrying a brand new suit case. The latter went to the desk and called for a room.

A little later the other man arose, yawned and, going to the desk, looked at the register and went upstairs. Beverly went to the door, called in his men, and, noting the number of the room assigned the newcomer, the three went upstairs. Five minutes later they knocked at his door and, receiving no response, kicked it open. They found him taking $150,000 out of his suit case. They arrested him, and he turned out to be Vincent Torbert, absconding cashier of the —th National bank.

Jim Beverly pocketed $20,000 reward by the transaction and, going back to the city, thought he would see if it would be easier to get on there with money in his pocket than without. He got a position in the bank to which he had restored its lost funds, the president promising to advance him. Jim proved capable and became cashier. He married the daughter of one of the directors. She inherited her father's stock in the bank, and this eventually made Jim president. He is now manager and part owner of a trust company and is a noted financier.

The question is, What would have become of Jim Beverly had he not gone into a certain shop on a certain day and bought a certain secondhand suit case? The chances are that he would have been a tiller of the soil, up before day, out in storm and sunshine, selling his best products and living on his poorest. He would have been Farmer Beverly instead of James G. Beverly, millionaire.

ELINOR T. BOYD.

Squaw as Housekeeper.

Put a squaw in a tepee and she is the neatest of housekeepers. The blankets are neatly rolled and stowed away under the edge of the tepee, leaving the center clear. Bright colored blankets and fine fur robes are spread about, and a wonderfully beaded dance drum hangs from one of the poles. But put a squaw in a house and she is anything but a success. Go into one of these frame houses and you will find the mattresses laid along the floor, with the whole family sprawling thereon. The cracked cook stove will be in the middle of the floor, with anything but agreeable odors coming therefrom. Outside the bedsteads and springs will be used as chicken roosts. But the squaw doesn't let her housekeeping shortcomings worry her. When she puts on an elk tooth robe, valued at anywhere from $1,500 to $3,000, and rides to the fair or to the agency on a Sunday astride a beaded saddle she is a picture of contentment.—Denver Republican.

Old Grog.

The inventor of grog, the long time beverage of the sea and of salt water literature, was Admiral Vernon, of whose courageous deeds at Porto Bello a lively poet has sung:

Which when they came to understand he was so brave a fellow,
They did surrender, out of hand, the town of Porto Bello.

"Old Grog" was Vernon's pet name in the navy of his day, and it was thus bestowed: "Out on the Spanish main Vernon found that the result of giving each man in the ship's company half a pint of rum a day to drink neat was disastrous. His captains and surgeons suggested to him the revolutionary experiment of mixing the spirit with water. In a station order Vernon required this to be done. The new liquor was not favorably received, and the seamen cast about for an opprobrious name for it and its author. Now, Vernon used to wear a grogram boat cloak; hence 'Old Grog.'"

The Fata Morgana.

The most singular aerial phenomenon is the fata morgana, a sea mirage seen off the coast of Calabria and between Italy and Sicily. It presents the phantoms of cities, houses, temples, palaces and ships, sometimes in their proper position, sometimes inverted, occasionally at an angle. The phenomenon has been known for many ages and formerly occasioned great and widespread alarm, being regarded as an evil omen that betokened some general and severe calamity.

Curious Effects of Frost.

An egg expands when it is frozen so much that the increased bulk breaks the shell. Apples, on the contrary, contract to such an extent that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer will be a foot below the chime. When the frost has been slowly and carefully drawn out they again assume their normal size and appearance. Apples can be transported when the mercury is 20 degrees below zero. Potatoes once touched by frost are ruined.

An Easier Trip.

"The president of this road," remarked the man in the corner of the smoking compartment, "is one of those old fashioned railroaders. He began as a brakeman. Instead of riding over the line in a private car to inspect it, he walks over it." "I don't blame him," declared the man who was making his first trip on the road.—Cleveland Press.

A Lasting Impression.

"Well, Bertha, I hear you met Mr. Cooke yesterday. Did you like him?"

"Do you know, dear, he made an impression upon me that nothing will obliterate."

"Really! How—what did he say?"

"It wasn't what he said; it was what he did. He spilled a cup of tea over my new white silk dress."

NOTICE.

On Monday, the 27th day of May, A. D. 1907, at 12 o'clock M., I will sell at the Court House door in the City of Wilmington, to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate in New Hanover County, City of Wilmington, N. SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Pender Chronicle: Mr. L. W. Deal, of Croom's Bridge section, informs us that Mr. Campfield of that community, recently killed a coach-whip snake measuring six feet and four inches in length, which attacked Mrs. Campfield on the road.

—Pender Chronicle: Dr. W. C. Murphy of Washington, D. C., arrived on Tuesday of last week to be with his mother, Mrs. E. A. Murphy, whose illness we noted last week. We are glad to learn that her condition has materially improved.

—Capt. E. A .McKethan, commander of the Sons of United Confederate Veterans of North Carolina, has appointed Miss Grace McMillan sponsor for the State, and Miss Mary Fuller Roberson maid of honor—two charming Fayetteville girls.

—Pender Chronicle: Last week a dog having hydrophobia, belonging to Mr. J. A. Lanier, killed a dog belonging to a colored man of that section, bit four of Mr. P. P. Beasley's, bit a house cat and a dog belonging to Mr. J. D. Player, which he vailued at $50 He had to be beaten off by Mr. Player's family., who did not know at the time that the dog was affected with this dreaded disease. Last accounts the dog was still at large.

—New Bern, May 29: Two sudden deaths occurred here to-day. Needham Case, aged 77, died of apoplexy, after thirty minutes sickness. He was an old citizen, a Confederate veteran, a high rank Mason and a long time employe of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railway. At five o'clock this afternoon Sam K. Eaton dropped dead while at work in his jewelry store. The cause of his death was heart disease. He was 70 years of age and was the oldest jeweler here. He was well known throughout the State among his tradespeople.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at R. R. The clubwoman giggled.

"You know, my husband's birthday is next week," she said, "and I"—

Laughter overcame her for the moment.

—"and I have been taking a cigar out of his case every day for the last three months. Well," she went on, "I've got a hundred now, and I'll give them to him for a birthday present." — Exchange.

Cash Better Than Time.

"Have you a few moments to spare?"

"Young man," said the capitalist severely, "my time is worth $100 an hour, but I'll give you ten minutes."

"If it's all the same to you," thoughtfully replied the visitor, "I believe I would rather take it in cash."—Exchange.

Over There.

"And, best of all," said the boastful American, "we have no titled aristocracy to support over here."

"No," replied the foreigner, "but you have a good many titled sons-in-law to support over there."—Judge.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation. as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs JamesChester of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

WM. J. BRYAN AT EXPOSITION

Distinguished Nebraskan Principal Speaker For Patrick Henry Day Celebration.

SPOKE ABOUT TAXATION

Used Famous Declaration of Patrick Henry with Telling Effect Against Our Rule of Philippines.—Descendant of Patrict Present.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—The anniversary of the passage by the Virginia House of Burgesses on May 30, 1765, of Patrick Henry's famous resolution against the British stamp act, was celebrated as Patrick Henry Day at the Jamestown Exposition today with William Jennings Bryan as the central figure in a speech delivered in the convention hall on the exposition grounds before 2,000 people on the subject, "Taxation Without Representation is Tyranny."

The exercises were opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by a chorus of 350 school children, followed by an address by President Harry St. George Tucker of the Exposition Company on the career of Patick Henry.

Following the reading by President Tucker of the original stamp act resolutions, Dr. Philip Aylett Fitzhugh, of New York, great grandson of Patrick Henry, was introduced and given a hearty greeting by the audience which arose and cheered the venerable descendant of Henry. The singing of "Yankee Doodle" by the children was followed by the singing of "Dixie", which brought forth great applause. Congressman Frank T. Lassiter, of the Fourth Virginia District, in introducing Mr. Bryan referred to United States Senator John W. Daniel, which was the signal for wild cheers for the Viginia statesman.

Mr. Bryan dwelt on American rule in the Philippine islands, declaring that we are making laws for the government of the Filipinos under which we would not live ourselves, and compared the American rule of the Filipinos to the British rule of the American colonies prior to the Revolutionary War. He said that while he had frequently said in the North that the black man was taxed in the South without representation, he had likewise said that the white men of the South are themseles living under the same laws which they made to affect the negro. He said of the two systems of taxation direct and indirect, the direct plan is by far the safest. He favored strongly an income tax.

The Speaker discussed Federal ownership of railroads, but said that after all he wondered if more was not to be gained for the people by discussing and fighting the corporations.

Continuing Mr. Bryan said:

"What is the effect of our new rate law which was so hard to get? There are two efforts so far. One is it stopped rebates; that is good, but what was the pecuniary effect. Why, the railroads kept the money they paid to the favored shippers, that is, the railroads got more money out of this. What was the other effect? It stopped passes. What did that do? It gave to the railroads the money that the fellows used to save that rode on passes.

"So far we have increased the revenues of the roads and that is all that that law has done thus far; and when the various States said, 'Well now, we have given you this advantage by stopping rebates and passes, we will reduce passenger rates and make you divide with the people,' and in some of the States, they have reduced the passenger rates. The railroads in some cases are so ungrateful for what has been given them that they go into the courts to try to keep the people from having the benefit of the two cent rate law."

"All over this land we have seen this struggle between the people and the corporations and we see it in this country today on railroad questions. In 1896 the Democratic platform declared for railroad regulation. It did so in 1900; it did so in 1904, but, my friends after ten years of effort on our part we had to wait until a Republican President had to take the lead on the subject and then he had the fight of his life to get his bill through the Senate or House. At last, in order to make it a Republican measure the President was forced to compromise with representatives of the railroads in the United States Senate. I think, my friends, if I am allowed to talk on taxation, I ought not to forget the taxation this country is bearing today, because we do not regulate the corporations as we ought to regulate them. When I see a man who is constantly talking against government ownership of railroads I believe he is doing it from his own interests.

"Well we have not reached that question, but we have reached the question of our railroad management and I have some times felt tempted to suggest that the man who spends his time talking about the government ownership of railroads could better spend his time in protecting the masses from the greed of corporations of today."

Mr. Bryan expressed his appreciation of the kind things that had been said about him in his introduction and said he was proud to be the son of a Virginian.

"I know there is no distinction," he said, "equal to being a son of Virginia, but a grandson comes next to it."

Referring to Mr. Lassiter's reference to Senator Daniel for the Presidency, Mr. Bryan said:

"I don't know whether my good friend expected to use this occasion to join in the nomination of the candidate for President or not. I will say this, that I join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman, and I have said time and again that section should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at St. Louis I seconded the nomination of a man from Missouri, an ex-Confedrate soldier, when Virginia voted for a New York man. And I have insisted that the time has come when the Democracy of the Union should take in the whole Union, and that its selection should be made without regard to the State in which a man lives.

"I appreciate the fact that a majority of our electorate come from the South but I don't want the people of the South to forget that a majority of our Democratic votes come from the North. We have more Democrats in the North than you have in the South and you must not be too harsh with us if we have also the misfortune of having more Republican voters in the North than you have in the South. It is not that there are too few of us; it is that there are too many of them—and I would hardly be doing justice to the section from which I come if I did not tell you that it requires as much love of Democracy to vote in the North where they defeat us, as it requires down here to vote, where they elect you. I learned my Democracy from a father born in Virginia and it came also from my mother whose grandfather came from Virginia. And my only regret is that my children have one generation more of Democracy behind them than I have.

"But I am not here to make a Democratic speech. This is not a partisan occasion. I have ample opportunities to talk Democracy and usually on opportunities where the people need talking to more than you do. I am here to join with you in the commemoration of Patrick Henry Day.

"I enjoyed the singing of the Northern air and then the Southern airs; I am glad that we have double standard music. Judging from the pulse of this audience, however, I would say that it was 16 to 1 in favor of 'Dixie'. My friends, we like 'Dixie' up North. I am going to reveal a secret to you. The reason we were in a hurry to conclude the war, was not because it was as a costly war, but because we wanted to get 'Dixie' as a National air and not let you have it all to yourselves."

PAID PENALTY ON THE GALLOWS

John Matthis, Negro, Hanged at Clinton, N. C., For Murdering Step-Father.

MURDERER CREMATED BODY

After Slaying Old Man with Axe, Brute Burned House to Cover Up His Crime.—Professed Forgiveness—Warned Others

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Clinton, N. C., May 30.—The negro, John Matthis, was hanged here today at 12 o'clock for the murder of his stepfather, Thomas Merritt, in the year 1905, which was a most atrocious deed, he having killed the old man in the house with an axe, and then, to add to the horribleness of the crime, or in an attempt to ward off suspicion, fired the house and cremated the body. For this monstrous crime he professed forgiveness and stated during his incarceration that he was ready to die and prepared for the hereafter. He met death with apparently little dread, walking with steady step from his cell and ascended the gallows steps as he was being held by Messrs. J. L. Sarter and W. A. Crumpler on either side. He had previously asked for time to talk, which was allowed. He stated on the gallows that a lack of training had brought him to such an end, warning parents to train their children or they would come to harm. Sheriff McPhail sprung the trap at 12 and the attending physicians, Doctors G. H. Cooper and J. O. Matthews, pronounced life extinct in thirteen minutes thereafter. Within twenty minutes the body was taken down and prepared for interment, which was at the county home. The execution passed off without a hitch or remarkable incident.

BLUE AND GRAY FRATERNIZE.

Decoration Day Observed at Norfolk by Former Foes.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—The unprecedented fraternizing of the Blue and the Gray, when President Roosevelt was the orator of the Army and Navy Unions on decoration day celebration at Portsmouth, Va., last year, was repeated in today's observance there. There was a parade of United States seamen headed by Civil War and Army and Navy veterans. The ceremonies of the day, preceded by a military high mass at St. Paul's Catholic Church, conducted by Rev. Father Anthony Durkin, of Baltimore, took place at the National cemetery in the woods of the naval hospital grounds where President Roosevelt spoke last year. General Edwin J. Browne, of Washington ,D. C., National commander of the Army and Navy union, was the orator of the day.

Blue and Gray Fraternize.

Marietta, Ga., May 30.—Memorial Day was appropriately observed at the National cemetery here today, a detachment of the 17th United States infantry, stationed at Port McPherson, attended under command of General W. S. Edgerly, commanding the Department of the Gulf.

Winchester, Va., May 30.—The graves of more than 5,000 Union soldiers buried here were decorated today by members of the Ladies' National Memorial Association. Memorial services also were held.

RATE RESTRAINED BY PRITCHARD

Another Injuction Against North Carolina Corporation Commission by Federal Judge.

ORDER RETURNABLE JUNE 27

Carolina and Northwestern Railway with Part of Line in South Carolina, and Part in North Carolina , Fights Legislature.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Asheville, N. C., May 30.—Judge Pritchard granted another injunction today against the Corporation Commission of North Carolina on petition of the Carolina and Northern Railway Company which road runs between Chester, S. C., and Lenoir ,N. C. The road has about 73 miles of trackage in this state and a restraining order was entered yesterday, returnable at this city on the 27th of June next, restraining the Commission from putting in operation the passenger and freight rate act recently passed by the legislature of this state.

The allegations of the complaint on which the injunctions was issued are similar to those on which the Southern, the Norfolk and Western, and stockohlders of the Atlantic Coast Line secured similar injjunctions, and are in brief that the rate reduction is so excessive that the railway will be deprived of any return from its property.

FREE ZONE ON MEXICAN BORDER

Smuggling Causes President Roosevelt to Establish Reservation

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, May 30.—The President has issued a proclamation creating a reservation sizty feet in width along the entire Northern border of Mexico, including the State of California and the territories of Arizona and New Mexico. The purpose of the reservation is declared in the Presidential proclamation to be the suppression of smuggling across the international line. Private entries in the line of the projected reservation and such portions of it as are needdefor roads are reserved from the operation of the order.

Since the abolition of the old "Zona Libre," or free zone, between Mexico and the United States, it has been found increasingly difficult to prevent smuggling across the boundary, hence the President's proclamation.

GOOD FOR EXPOSITION.

Mr. James M .Barr Will Assist in Managing Ter-Centennial.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—James M. Barr, former president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, has acceded to the request of the board of governors of the Jamestown Exposition Company to lend his aid in the management of the exposition. Mr. Barr will direct the affairs of the ter-centennial without compensation. As to how long he will hold the reins is not certain, this being left with him. He will conduct his private business affairs simuntaneously with the conduct of the affairs of the Exposition Company. Mr. Barr has not yet had a formal conference with the board of governors as to details, but this will occur in the very near future.

AUTOMOBILE RECORD BROKEN

One Hundred Miles In 2 Hours, 12 Minutes, 43 Seconds.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Washington, May 30.—The world's automobile racing record for one hundred miles on a circular track was broken today when Wallace C. Hood, of Baltimore, won over seven contestants in the century run at Bennings, D. C. It is the first national automobile contest given under the auspices of the United States Motor Racing Association. Hood's time was 2 hours, 12 minutes, 43 seconds. He drove a sixty-horse power machine.

The previous record was made by Rogers, of Racine, Wis., who scored 2 hours, 18 minutes, in a contest in Chicago about a year ago.
